ABOUT ME

A software engineer, student, programmer, coder, hacker. I love coding and being a part of the software developer community. You can find me at hackathons hacking away at code and pulling all-nighters. I love contributing to projects and facing new challenges.

EDUCATION

UNIVERSITY OF NEW HAVEN

(2015 – 2019)

BACHELORS OF COMPUTER SCIENCE

I took courses in relational databases, object oriented programming principles, and project management. I also took advance courses in C/C++, Java, and Computer Systems.

A100 CERTIFIED DEVELOPER

(2015 – 2016)

WINTER 2015 COHORT

I have been trained in a classroom and with real world experiences in software development. I built Meteor web applications for a personal project and for a venture project for a client.

EMPLOYMENT

ABBOTT JEWELRY SYSTEMS INC.

(2013 – present)

INTERN PROGRAMMER

I developed in VB.net for a retail management software. I develop and test all my code before committing to the codebase. I practiced Agile software development with daily standups and code sprints.

SELF EMPLOYED

(2015 – present)

IT TECHNICIAN

I began offering IT services at a young age. Today I have a vast client-base who depend on my services when needed. I started my own business as an entrepreneur so I could help people by doing what I love.
